Confederate Paper Money

- 217 BECHTEL'S ALBUM for Confederate Currency. Containing specimens of each type of the notes, issued by the authority of the Confederate Government, embracing 90 notes, all uncirculated, and laid loosely in the Album. Sold as a lot.

This is almost a unique collection. It embraces the $1000, $500, $100 and $50, Montgomery, 1861; the $100 and $50, Richmond, 1861, all with written date; the $100, $50, $20, both varieties; $10 and $5, both varieties of the issue of July 25, 1861; the $100, $50, the three varieties, $20, five varieties, $10, ten varieties, $5, six varieties, and $2, issue of Sept. 7, 1861; interest notes of the 1862 issue, viz., $100, five varieties, $2, two varieties, and $1, two varieties, &c., embracing the whole series noticed by Bechtel in compiling his book. All uncirculated.

- 218 CONFEDERATE PAPER CURRENCY, as issued by the States of Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Georgia, Alabama, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Florida, embracing almost if not a complete series of the issues of all the Confederate States, including the fractional currency, for 1861 to 1866, mounted in three Albums, 4to, half roan, embracing in all 1556 notes. Sold as a lot.

A Remarkable Collection. Mr. J. C. Browne was over 60 years collecting this series, and that, too, mostly in the time when Confederate money could be gotten much easier than to-day. Many of the notes are of excessive rarity, and not a few command a premium over their face value.

- 219 FACSIMILE NOTES (Counterfeits) of the Confederate States. Made by Upham, Philadelphia, 1861-62. 114 pieces.

This and the above lot form a remarkable collection, and one which could not be duplicated. The collection affords an interesting episode in the history of the Civil War, which proves to what straits the business world was put for the lack of Government currency. These notes were issued by cities and towns, large and small tradesmen, in change to their customers, and were redeemable. This is probably the largest collection known.
